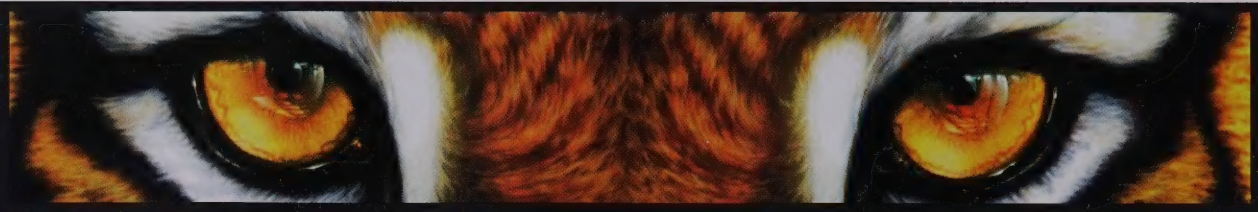
To the class of 2009:

The day is finally here! All of our friends and family are near.
Twenty minutes 'till we have to take our seats and we can't believe the heat.
Maybe it's just the nerves that make us feel this way; our palms are sweaty, our vision blurry. We hope this feeling doesn't stay.
This is our final memory of our youth. We guess it's going to be like removing a baby tooth.
If we do it quickly, it won't hurt so bad. This day is making us all feel so sad.
Just two more names until its my turn, today took four years to earn.
It's my turn! I have to walk up the stairs. I feel so many stares.
This is my final moment and everyone is seeing it, and I start to shake just a bit.
Dr. Parker hands us our diploma and shakes our hand, we can't believe we all can still stand.
We walk off the stage. We've turned our page.
This is our final day. We don't know what to say.
The principal says that he's proud and wishes us luck, It's done with all the years of feeling stuck.
One more thing before we walk off this field, there are so many dreams getting ready to be fulfilled.
We've already moved our tassel, that was such a hassle!
But now I get to throw MY hat.
How do you like that?
What an amazing sensation,
My GRADUATION!!!!

Congratulations Class of 2009! You've earned it! Look what you achieved giving ONE DEGREE MORE!

Love, your classmates, Pajge Ruff and Savannah Wells



Dedicated to Edgar Bane

On August 29, 2005, many of us experienced the worst catastrophe of our lives, Hurricane Katrina. Unfortunately some of our friends and family died because of this storm. Our classmate, Edgar Bane, his brother Carl Bane, and his parents died in Hurricane Katrina. We dedicate this page to Edgar. We remember him as he was... a happy, fun-loving young man who loved Cartoon Network, the phone book, and The Incredible Journey movie. The Class of 2009 would like to honor Edgar as we prepare to take the next step. We miss him and know he is with us in spirit.

I will never forget your first day of school. You looked up at us and said is the pink bus coming to pick me up!! You just knew the pink casino bus was your school bus. You were all dressed up with your hair perfect, everything matching, big book bag, and no tears, from you any way. I cried all day!! It seems like yesterday was your first day of school and now you are ready for the last day. It has been so much fun watching you go from elementary to high school. I will miss being the room Mom, all the field trips, the long bus rides, conferences, and competitions at State with you and all your friends.
WOW!! You are now on your way to college.
As you move into a new chapter of your life may everyday be a great adventure. May the road you choose in life be the right one for you? There will come a time when life will challenge you, except it because you have it in you to conquer anything that comes your way. I can only imagine what is ahead for you and with God at your side anything is possible.
We are so proud of you. We will always be here for you.
I look forward to all the long college night talks.

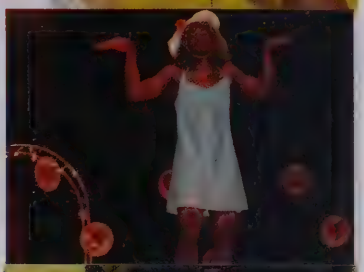
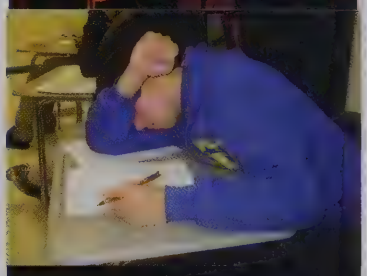
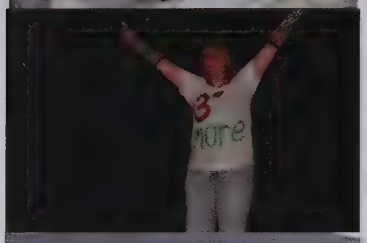
THIS YEAR!







Finally, this AMAZING school year is over.This is the time when you sit back and think about all the great memories you have, the friends you made, and the things you still want to do! High School is all about finding yourself and your future! Seniors, you can now look back on all the under classmen and know you have been there and done that! Juniors,you can now brag about being seniors. Sophomores, you can now say two years left! Freshmen, sit back and get ready for the time of our lives! We do have three years left! Have a great summer!
